

The Libel Reform Campaign invites you to hear why

Now is the time to reform our libel laws

Wednesday 9th November 2011, 6pm
Committee Room 10, House of Commons, SW1A 0AA

The Joint Committee on the Draft Defamation Bill urged the government to strengthen their proposals for reform, in line with recommendations from the Libel Reform Campaign. There is still work to be done to protect free speech from the stifling effects of current libel law and to provide a stronger, wider and more accessible public interest defence.

Join the Libel Reform Campaign, John Kampfner, Index on Censorship, Jonathan Heawood, English PEN and Tracey Brown, Sense About Science, and supporters including: Simon Singh; Society of Editors; Which?; Global Witness; AOL; Mumsnet and others to hear why legislation to reform the libel laws must be put before Parliament in the current session.

RSVP, if possible, to Mark Brook
mbrook@senseaboutscience.org
020 7490 9590

Kindly sponsored by Dr Julian Huppert MP

Enter Parliament via Cromwell Green entrance.
Please allow 20 minutes to get through security.